I have always been strongly opposed to lending my name or influence to put before the people any medicine not in general use by the medical profession, believing that were nine-tenths of the so-called medicines now in use stricken out of existence mankind would be the gainer and the science of medicine no loser. For the past few years my wife, who is now sixty-two years of age, has suffered terribly from indigestion and could not take even a small amount of food in her stomach without causing distress, and the only relief she could get was from the use of hi-carbonate sods, which was only temporary. Last March I saw Ripans Tabules recommended so highly that I made up my mind to get some and unknown to my wife give them a thorough trial. Through a druggist I obtained a package of the Tabules and my wife commenced using them. They were of full strength and acted too freely on the lowers. I then wrote and obtained some of the chocolate coursel Tabules of half the strength and those acted like a charm. My wife is now berself again, can cut a good meal without the least distress and has discontinued taking Ripans Tabules. However, a good supply is kept on hand for fear the old enemy may again appear. old enemy may again appear.
